Workshop Description

The Wisconsin United Methodist Foundation and the Wisconsin Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church present Rev. David S. Bell to help United Methodist congregations and clergy gain knowledge and skills to achieve their financial goals. Rev. Bell's approach to stewardship is biblically sound and will help you move from an attitude of scarcity to abundance and hope. We encourage pastors, stewardship committees, finance committees, church council members, treasurers and financial secretaries to attend this year's Stewardship Seminar.

Workshop Leader

Rev. David S. Bell currently serves as a partner and consultant with Design Group International and as Vice President of Stewardship with The United Methodist Foundation of Michigan. As an author of many noteworthy articles, he is a forerunner in the discipline of spiritual giving. He creates hope by providing practical consultation and motivational seminars, empowering leaders to discover their vital role in enabling communities of faith to embody a generous culture.

One of David's recognized strengths is his personal understanding of organizations from various perspectives. He gained experience as a pastor, a development director and a regional and national church executive. David is the author of the 2009-12 UM Guidelines for Stewardship Leaders and co-author of the Guidelines for Finance Leaders.
